

POLITIET

Request for access to personal data in national police databases

You are entitled to request access to personal data in police databases. This may be data regarding you or regarding things you own. Access will generally not be granted to other people's personal data.

Please send the form to the National Criminal Investigation Service (Kripos) (PO box 2094 Vika, NO-0125 Oslo), the police district that decided to record your data, or the police district where you reside. Please see politiet.no for addresses.

Please be aware that emails are often sent unencrypted. Privileged, sensitive or other confidential information should therefore not be sent by email. This includes emails that contain national identity numbers.

The response to your request will be sent to your current address listed in the Norwegian National Population Registry (folkeregisteret).

Please indicate to which database or case access is requested

Tick only the box(es) of the database(s) relevant to your request.

If you request access to one or several national police databases, please read the information on page 5 and only tick databases relevant to your request.

Are you requesting access to data the police have recorded about sanctions imposed against you for offences you have committed? Data from the Criminal Sanctions Database are generally only provided verbally. If you are requesting access to the Criminal Sanctions Database, please visit your local police.

If you have queries regarding police certificates of conduct, go to politiet.no to learn more, or contact the competent police office in Vardø (Politiets enhet for vandelskontroll og politiattester).

Are you requesting access to data the police have recorded about you because you have reported a crime, or because you have been either reported, a victim or a witness in a criminal case?

For access to the Criminal Cases Database, please describe the matter in more detail. Please note that requests for access to documents in criminal case files (such as interviews, crime reports, decisions) must be directed to the police district or specialist agency that handled the criminal case.

Criminal Cases Database

Time	Place
Description of offence

Are you requesting access to data the police have recorded about you because you have been in touch with a police control room in connection with an incident, or have been involved in an incident which may be on record?

For access to the police operations log, please state the time, place and incident or otherwise identify the incident you believe may be on record. Access is not granted to internal police assessments and service planning.

Police operations log

Time	Place
Incident

Are you requesting access to an audio log after being in contact with a police control room in connection with a current incident/assignment?

For access to an audio log, please state the time, place and incident or otherwise identify the assumed record you are requesting access to. You must explain why you believe the conditions for access to the Audio Log to have been met, for instance because you intend to use the recording as evidence in a criminal case, or because you need the recording as documentation in a different context. Audio log data are, as a rule, automatically deleted after 90 days.

Audio log

Time	Place
Incident and grounds for access

Are you requesting access to data about you in connection with being held in police custody (in the police cells, or on remand)?

You must explain why you believe the conditions for granting access to audio and video recordings from police cells have been met, for example a need to use the recordings as evidence in a criminal case or to make a complaint about your stay. You must also consent to the retention of the recording. Audio and video recordings are, as a rule, automatically deleted after 30 days.

Grounds for access

Are you requesting access to photos taken of you by the police in connection with an offence you were suspected of, charged with or convicted of?

Central photo database

Have you had your fingerprints taken and want to know what is on record in the Fingerprint Database?

Fingerprint Database

Have you provided a DNA sample and want to know what is on record about you in the National DNA Database?

National DNA Database

Are you requesting access to personal or enterprise data and police information about you recorded in connection with a measure directed at you or your enterprise?

Identity and Police Information Database

Are you requesting access to information the police have recorded about you in connection with criminal intelligence?

National Criminal Intelligence System

Are you requesting access to air passenger data the police have recorded about you for the purposes of preventing, detecting, investigating and prosecuting terrorist offences and serious crime?

Passenger Name Record (PNR) Database

Do you want to know whether you have, or an object you own has, been wanted or sought by the police in connection with prosecution or other police responsibilities?

National Police Alert/Circulation System

Are you requesting access to information the police have recorded about you in connection with conduct and follow-up of the police's early intervention talks with minors and their parents?

The early intervention talks database only contains data about persons born after 01 April 1985. If the data subject was born before 1 April 1985 there will be no record of him or her on the database and access will consequently not be granted.

Early intervention talks

Have you or the person on whose behalf you are requesting access, been classified as a missing person for at least three months, or presumed dead, and do you want access to this data?

Missing Persons Database

Are you requesting access to information the police have recorded in connection with your involvement in a case regarding suspicious transactions (money laundering or financing of terrorism)?

Money Laundering Database

The National Authority for Investigation and Prosecution of Economic and Environmental Crime (Økokrim) is the data controller for the Money Laundering Database. If you are requesting access to this database, your request will be forwarded to Økokrim.

Are you requesting access to information the police have recorded about you in connection with tasks performed by the police under the Immigration Act or at the Police Immigration Detention Centre?

Police Immigration Database

The National Police Immigration Service is the data controller for the Police Immigration Database. If you are requesting access to this database, your request will be forwarded to the National Police Immigration Service.

Closer description of the matter

If you are unsure what database to request access to, please describe in what connection you believe to have been recorded on a police database.

Proof of identity

A copy of a valid proof of identity must be attached for us to be able to consider your request. The proof of identity cannot have an expired validity date, and must contain your photo, name, signature and Norwegian national identity number or D number (foreigner's Norwegian identity number). If you do not have a Norwegian national identity number or a D number, your proof of identity must contain your gender, date and place of birth, photo, name and signature.

What is accepted as proof of identity?

- passport (not emergency passport)
- Norwegian bank card with photo
